

LIKELY, UNLIKELY

INSTRUCTIONS

Use the definitions and example below to help you answer the questions.

Likely means something has a higher chance of happening.

Unlikely means something has a lower chance of happening.

EXAMPLE

You are pulling toys out of a bag.

There are 3 cars
in the bag

There are more cars

So you are more likely to pick a car

There are 2
boats in the bag

There is 1 plane
in the bag

There are fewer planes

So you are more unlikely to pick a

Use the picture below to answer questions 1 and 2.

1. Eddie picks a snack from this bag without looking. What is he likely to pick?

- a. a pear
- b. a cherry
- c. an apple
- d. a banana

2. Nina picks a snack from this bag without looking. What is she unlikely to pick?

- a. a pear
- b. a cherry
- c. an apple
- d. a banana

LIKELY, UNLIKELY

3. At a birthday party, everyone gets to pick a balloon from a bag. In the bag, there are 2 red balloons, 1 yellow balloon, 4 blue balloons, and 3 pink balloons. What color balloon is the most unlikely to be picked?

- | | |
|-----------|---------|
| a. red | c. blue |
| b. yellow | d. pink |

Johnny and his friends are playing a game with a spinner. Use this spinner to answer questions 4 and 5.

4. Johnny's favorite color is blue. Is it likely or unlikely that the spinner will land on blue? Why or why not?

5. Kate spins the spinner next. What color will the spinner most likely land on? Why?
